

CAKE AUCTION

For those of you who have never taken part in our end of the year Court of Honor/Cake Auction, this is pretty much how it goes. Each family puts together a cake made by their scout, and with the parents and other family member's help usually. They pick out a theme ex; Pirates, or Toys... and they decorate their cake with that theme. They bring their cake along with maybe some other little goodies ex; toys, tickets to a movie, coupons for a restaurant, etc... to the Court of Honor /Cake Auction. We put all of the cakes on display for viewing before the Court of Honor. Everyone brings as many friends and family members as they can for this event, telling them that the money they use to win their cake goes towards helping in our community and our troop. Then after the Court of Honor ceremony there is an auction. Parents then bid on the cakes, knowing that the proceeds will go to a needy family or community source of the troop's choice for donation, and of course a percentage also stays in the troop to help with our expenses as well. The boys may bid on cakes too with the permission of the parents, so long as they actually have the funds to back up their bids. This is a serious auction. I've included some pictures of cakes that have been entered in the past. There have been variations on the "cake" idea as well, some brought store bought items, and some brought other treats besides cakes like gift baskets from Starbucks. No matter what you bring it will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. It's a lot of fun to see how far a chocolate cake can go! So have fun with it, be creative, and let's make lots of money to help our community and our troop.
